

If you are a civil engineer (or related field) in transition or a recent graduate looking for employment, please join us at the Round Table for a brisk hour of discussion and networking.

We will be sharing information for current employment opportunities as well as economic indicators and trends affecting the profession and targeting where upcoming jobs will be available. Participants are encouraged to exchange resumes for objective, tactful reviews and feedback to highlight your unique skills to employers. Learn how to save time and money by networking effectively.

The Round Table also welcomes recruiters and employers searching for the best engineers actively engaged in their career and supporting the profession.
